Dear Parents,

Your child is in the middle of the decision making unit in health and I have asked each of them to interview you as an assignment. The questions are meant to open up a healthy discussion of some of the challenging decision making situations young people often face in life. There is no right or wrong answers.

- 1. If I am ever out with friends and my ride home becomes impaired either from the use of alcohol and/or drugs and it is too far for me to realistically walk home and no one else can safely drive me home, what would you want me to do?

- 2. If I was with friends and I discovered that one or more of them were shoplifting, what advice would you give me to get myself out of this situation?

- 3. Do you think it is ok for me to lie if it would help get me out of a situation that I find myself in that I do not think is morally right, legal or safe to do?

- 4. What is your biggest fear when I am away from you & out with my friends?

- 5. What are two things that I do that make you proud? Angry/Frustrated?

- 6. What are your hopes and dreams for me?
